Course Description

During the spring 2024 three-credit (GOVT 444) offering of the IR Policy Task Force, students apply case study analysis as well as content area expertise developed in the fall semester to researching and crafting responses to a policy challenge of their own choosing.

The spring IRTF offering introduces students to:

- research and writing strategies for crafting effective policy papers
- presentation strategies for delivering effective policy briefs
- leading policy briefs in the fields of international relations, comparative politics, American politics, healthcare, international development, and the environment

Proficiency in policy analysis and writing will be developed through weekly policy labs as well as scaffolded assignments that culminate in a final policy paper, poster presentation, and oral policy brief.

Course Learning Outcomes

By the close of this course:

1. Students will identify the core components of persuasive policy analysis.
2. Students will apply the core components of persuasive policy analysis and craft their own written policy response to a pressing global or local challenge.
3. Students will present their policy response both in a poster session and through a 5-minute oral policy brief.

Enrollment

Students are responsible for verifying their enrollment in this class. Schedule adjustments should be made by the deadlines published in the Registrar calendar: <https://registrar.gmu.edu/calendars/>

Course Texts

- Pennock, Andrew. The CQ Press Writing Guide for Public Policy. CQ Press, 2018. (Available digitally through the GMU library)

Instructor-Student Communication

I will respond to emails within 48 hours. If I will be away from email for more than one day, I will post an announcement on the Blackboard course homepage.

Before sending an email with a class logistics question, do see if your question is addressed in one of the following (available on your Blackboard course menu):

1. Syllabus
2. Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)
3. Blackboard tutorials
4. Blackboard Q&A, and
5. Technology Requirements

Mason EMAIL

- Mason requires that university email be used for all course communication. I will be sending messages to your Mason email and you are responsible for making sure you have access to these messages.
- Please include GOVT 444 in your email subject heading to alert course instructors that your message relates to our class. Please sign your email with your full name.

Course Logistics

This course will meet in person and use Blackboard to facilitate learning outside of class sessions. In a typical week:

- you will read about 100-150 pages
- complete short policy evaluation assignments
- prepare for and participate in seminar discussions

You can anticipate devoting 10 hours or more to coursework each week.

To Access Blackboard

1. Go to <https://mymasonportal.gmu.edu>
2. Login using your NETID and password.
3. Select on the “Courses” tab.
4. Select GOVT 444: Crafting Policy Responses to Local and Global Challenges (Spring 2024) under course listings

Technical Help

- If you have difficulty with accessing Blackboard, please contact the ITS Support Center at support@gmu.edu or 703.993.8870.
- If you have trouble with using the features in Blackboard, email courses@gmu.edu.

Course Requirements

The following requirements are designed to promote an optimal learning environment. This syllabus is a contract. Your continued enrollment in this class constitutes your acceptance of these requirements.

1. Students are required to read the syllabus.
2. Students are expected to complete assigned readings. Students should anticipate approximately 100-150 pages of reading every week.
3. Students will complete weekly writing assignments. Assignments are detailed in the Grading, Assignment Description, and Deadlines section below. Students will submit writing assignments digitally, through BlackBoard.
4. Students will deliver poster presentations of their policy papers.

- Accommodation for missed or late assignments may be granted only following office hours discussion with the instructor. Students can schedule office hours appointments through the instructor's MS Bookings link. An accommodation may be extended only if students have proper documentation that can be verified. If you anticipate you will have a conflict due to medical / health care, religious holidays or travel, please inform me the first week of class. In the absence of proper documentation, late work will be assessed a 1/3 of total grade penalty for each day the assignment is late.

Student Responsibilities

Honor Code: Students must adhere to the guidelines of the George Mason University Honor Code. The GMU Honor Code states: "Cheating and attempted cheating, plagiarism, lying, and stealing of academic work and related materials constitute Honor Code violations. To maintain an academic community according to these standards, students and faculty members must report all alleged violations to the Honor Committee." Students are encouraged to read the full Honor Code: <https://oai.gmu.edu/mason-honor-code/> and to remain vigilant against any violation of the Code in their own work. Any cases of academic dishonesty in this course will be pursued according to the guidelines detailed in the University Catalog.

Time Conflict: George Mason University is committed to creating a welcoming, respectful and inclusive educational environment that values diversity. Students should review the syllabus at the beginning of the term to determine if there are any conflicts between class time and religious observance. It is the student's responsibility to inform the instructor of these conflicts within the first week of the semester. <https://ulife.gmu.edu/religious-holiday-calendar/>.

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who seek accommodations in a course must be registered with the George Mason University Office of Disability Services (ODS) and inform their instructor, in writing, at the beginning of the semester. See: <https://ds.gmu.edu/>

Student Services

Counselling and Psychological Services: The George Mason University Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) staff consists of professional counseling and clinical psychologists, social workers, and counselors who offer a wide range of services (individual and group counseling, workshops and outreach programs) to enhance students' personal experience and academic performance. See <https://caps.gmu.edu>.
